

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON

Give feedback on how wildfire risk reduction programs are working for homeowners

University of Oregon researchers need your help! The Insurance Institute for Business and Home Safety (IBHS) has established Wildfire Prepared Homes and Wildfire Prepared Homes Plus designations in California that are informed by the best available fire science for promoting home survival during a wildfire, yet many members of the public are not aware of these programs.

We are hosting a focus group session for Inverness residents and property owners to gather feedback about their experiences with mitigating wildfire risk and what they think about the IBHS programs. We will start with an information session about the IBHS programs and have an open discussion about what you think of the programs and how they can be tailored to better fit your needs. Focus groups typically take 90-120 minutes. Focus group participants will receive a $50 Amazon gift card as a thank you.

FOCUS GROUP

Please reserve your spot by contacting our team, scanning the QR code, or visiting this site:

<https://forms.gle/ZMvE987HJSNxJYvQ8>

SUNDAY

November 5, 2-4pm

 Dance Palace 503 B Street, PRS

Amanda Busco
Lead Student Researcher
wildfirepreparedhomereseach@gmail.com